Scottish Universities Press

An Introduction
WHY?

To provide a clear and cost-effective route for publishing research outputs Open Access.

To meet the Open Access requirements set by research funders.

To extend the benefits and impacts of research across the whole of society.
• An online publishing platform owned and managed by Scotland’s university libraries.
• The press will publish work from academics from participating institutions.
• We will cover all subject areas that receive submissions.
• We will focus initially on monograph publishing in the 2-year pilot phase with the wider ambition to include other types of content, including journals and e-textbooks.
• We will publish fully open access, peer-reviewed monographs.
• We will offer a paid for print on demand option.
Who?

18 Partners:

- Abertay University
- University of Dundee
- University of Glasgow
- Glasgow Caledonian University
- The Open University
- Queen Margaret University Edinburgh
- Royal Conservatoire of Scotland
- University of Stirling
- SRUC
- University of Strathclyde Glasgow
- University of the Highlands and Islands Oilthigh na Gàidhealtachd agus nan Eilean
- University of the West of Scotland
How?

• The start-up costs of the press are met by participating institutions.
• The press will operate on a not-for-profit basis and any surpluses will be reinvested in the press for the benefit of all partners.
• A Management Board comprising representatives from all member institutions provides strategic direction.
• An Editorial Board will review proposals and contribute to the development and ongoing management of the peer review process.
Editorial Board

- Formed of academic colleagues in a wide range of disciplines across participating institutions.
- Aims to have broad representation across institutions, in geographical range and institution profile.
- Will support academics with a broad range of experience, including Early Career Researchers (ECRs).
- Editorial Board members will advocate for the press and encourage submissions, review proposals, and contribute to the management of the peer review process.
- Opportunity to apply was open to all academics at participating institutions.
- Editorial Board to be announced in June 2022.
WHEN?

Work will progress across project workstreams throughout 2022, with a view to launching the platform by the end of year.

- Publishing Officer takes up post in May/Jun 2022
- Appoint Editorial Board in Jul/Aug 2022
- Prepare for launch in Autumn 2022
- Develop online platform in Autumn 2022
- Launch the platform in March 2023
Contact

Dominique Walker

Chair: Hannah Whaley, Assistant Director, University of Dundee Library

Vice Chair: Dominic Tate, Head of Library Research Support, University of Edinburgh Library

Press Manager: Gillian Daly, Executive Officer, SCURL

Publishing Officer: Dominique Walker

DWalker002@dundee.ac.uk
Useful Links

• SCURL website: https://www.scurl.ac.uk/

• Video Introduction: https://youtu.be/3Tk4JnpJ_Gc