

LEVIATHAN

DEPUTY TREASURER

Leviathan is the University of Edinburgh's most prestigious student academic publication, focusing on rigorously researched and well-written articles covering contemporary politics across the globe.

We are looking for a professional and hard-working Deputy Treasurer to get Leviathan off the stands and into current academic debates for the 2019-2020 academic year. This period will cover three issues, one in the fall semester and two in the spring semester. Our Deputy Treasurer will work with our Treasurer, Executive Committee and Events and Marketing Team to supervise journal's finances and develop our sponsorship channels. Your job as Deputy Treasurer would be to help us fulfil our shared aim with the Edinburgh Political Union of keeping students at the University informed and engaged with international politics.

No experience is required to apply to be Deputy Treasurer. As this role is an introduction to work as the journal's treasurer, we are looking for dedication and willingness to stay at Leviathan for more than a year. Our Executive Team will provide all the training you need. Fast-track a lucrative and stable career in the world of treasuring and become a part of Edinburgh's most exciting student publication.

For more information about Leviathan visit www.journals.ed.ac.uk/leviathan