

RES MEDICA

Journal of the Royal Medical Society

Medical Faculty Ball

The Editor

Abstract

The R.M.S. was in charge of this year's "ball of the season", on Valentine's Day, in the Assembly Rooms. As usual it was a best seller with most of the 770 people buying their tickets in the first week of sales.

Copyright Royal Medical Society. All rights reserved. The copyright is retained by the author and the Royal Medical Society, except where explicitly otherwise stated. Scans have been produced by the Digital Imaging Unit at Edinburgh University Library. Res Medica is supported by the University of Edinburgh's Journal Hosting Service url: <http://journals.ed.ac.uk>

ISSN: 2051-7580 (Online) ISSN: ISSN 0482-3206 (Print)

Res Medica is published by the Royal Medical Society, 5/5 Bristo Square, Edinburgh, EH8 9AL

Res Medica, Volume I, Number 1, 1990: 26-27

doi:10.2218/resmedica.v1i1.950

The Medical Faculty Ball

The R.M.S. was in charge of this year's "ball of the season", on Valentine's Day, in the Assembly Room's. As usual it was a best seller with most of the 770 people buying their tickets in the first week of sales.

The organisation of this monumental task was taken on by the ebullient, but lovable, Edi Albert; ably assisted by a team of intrepid helpers.

Professor Carter for accepting the challenge of speaking to such a rowdy bunch - he felt a bit like an old lamb on the way to the slaughter when he heard the reception that Edi got. Still he rose to the occasion and provided a very amusing and well received address (for those that listened!!)

Following the dinner the entertainment for the evening started, a wide

One of the changes made this year was to introduce a couple of speeches. We are very grateful to range of music was enjoyed including a ceildh (with the dance floor packed out); Sophie Bancroft sang with a jazz band, while "Zoot & the Roots" provided a funky alternative. A new attraction this year was a casino, the proceeds from this will go to charity.

REPORT

David Newton, Alison Lewis, Robert Lim, and someone called "Watson".

Several of the prizes have not yet been collected from the R.M.S. office. Those people are: Tam Evans, Finally many thanks to everyone who helped with the organisation, and to those who came along. Hope you enjoyed it!